BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, February 19.—Aided by a group of republicans, most of them insurgents, house democrats today eliminated from the revenue bill the Mellon income tax rates. By a vote of 222 to 196 a schedule advanced by Representative Garner, democrat, Texas, was substituted.

The bill as amended fixes the surtax maximum at 44 per cent on incomes in excess of $92,000 as against 50 per cent on incomes exceeding $200,000 under existing law and 25 per cent on incomes of more than $100,000 as recommended by the treasury. It also reduces normal income rates to a greater extent than Mr. Mellon recommended and increases personal tax exemptions, a feature not in the treasury draft.

Opposes Mellon Rates.

Before approving the Garner proposal which received the support of 17 republicans, one farmer-laborite, and one independent in addition to 202 democrats, the house went on record as opposed to rates substantially the same as those recommended by Mr. Mellon and rejected an amendment by Representative Fear, of Wisconsin, an insurgent, to cut normal rates in half without altering the existing surtax schedule.

Republican organization leaders had no opportunity to bring to a vote a compromise amendment which proposed a 25 per cent reduction in both normal and surtax rates.

Rules in effect today prevented a roll call on the democratic substitute which was approved by a teller's vote. A record vote, however, on the amendment can be demanded before the bill comes up for passage and organization republicans are planning to bring this about. Such a vote would bring a straight out test of strength between the Mellon and Garner rates. An opportunity also will be afforded the republicans to offer their compromise with a roll call on the proposition in order.

Stock Dividends Escape.

After disposing of the income rates section, an amendment offered by Representative Garner proposing to make stock dividends taxable was defeated, 141 to 127, the house proceeding with reading of the bill in regular order.

Debate on the income tax sections, the main target of democratic and insurgent republican opposition to the revenue bill, terminated by agreement at 3:30 o'clock, with practically every member of the house on the floor and the galleries filled with spectators.

A vote came first on the amendment offered at the last moment by Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee who declared the house should record itself on the Mellon rates. With the Garner and

Judge Denies Decree to Albert R. Leland.

Chicago, February 19.—Despite "confessions" by Mrs. Albert Leland on the witness stand that she misbehaved with her Baptist minister, the Rev. Carl D. Case, her husband was denied a divorce late Tuesday by Judge Charles M. Foell, who dismissed the suit.

Great surprise was occasioned by the decision, as Judge Foell's attitude throughout the trial had seemingly foreshadowed issuance of a writ.

Mrs. Leland's stories of incidents with Case in her own home and at the pastorate had been extremely circumstantial.

In addition, only a short time before the divorce was denied, Derwood C. Adams, son of the Rev. George C. Adams, a Baptist minister of Yonkers, N. Y., testified that Case had been one of five men named as co-respondents by the elder Adams in obtaining a divorce from his wife.

A bitter split in the congregation of the Oak Park Baptist church ended with victory, temporarily, for the defenders of Pastor Case, whom the judge's decision vindicates. But the end is not yet.

"I'll get him yet," warned Leland, as he heard the decision and announced that he would appeal.

Race Predicted.

New Orleans, La., February 19.—On the face of returns from 528 of the 1,310 precincts in the state the New Orleans item tonight estimated that Henry L. Fuqua won the democratic gubernatorial nomination in today's run-off primary by a majority of approximately 25,000 votes over Lieutenant Governor Hewitt Bouanchaud.

Nomination on the democratic ticket is equivalent to election.

Returns from the 528 precincts gave Fuqua 59,903; Bouanchaud 41,899. The figures included the vote of 218 of the 226 precincts in the city of New Orleans, where Fuqua's majority was estimated by the New Orleans newspapers at between 14,000 and 16,000.

The 218 New Orleans precincts gave Fuqua 38,501 and Bouanchaud 24,477.

Three unidentified men slugged Donald Rollins, 22, night watchman at Georgia Tech, at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, robbed him of keys to all Tech buildings, bound and gagged him and pitched him headlong into a ditch behind the machine shops where he lay until near 6 o'clock Tuesday evening when he struggled out of his bonds and staggered, dazed, to his home at 392 Spring street.

College and city police authorities made vain search for the young watchman all day Tuesday after his mysterious absence was discovered. He punched the time clock at 1:20 and then vanished until his arrival at his home. He was barefooted, having removed his shoes in order to slip leg bands over his feet.

Authorities Tuesday night were at loss to account for the assault and theft of keys. No buildings on the campus had been entered during the night and nothing, so far as reports during the day indicated, had been stolen.

Rollins bore several bruises on his body and his condition was critical as a result of the long exposure to cold and rain while he lay within

MINER-ENGINEER

Decision on Type of Man He Desires for
Navy Secretary.JOHN HAYS HAMMOND
MAY BE CONSIDEREDCoolidge Plans To Keep Roosevelt in Service, But Will Not Make Him Department Head.

Washington, February 19.—President Coolidge, in approaching the selection of a new secretary of the navy to succeed Edwin Denby, will endeavor to obtain the services of a man having some knowledge of mining and engineering as well as naval affairs.

Mr. Coolidge has given no special consideration as yet to filling the vacancy to be brought about by the retirement of Mr. Denby, March 10, but has fairly definitely made up his mind as to the type of man he desires. Some one with some knowledge of mining and engineering is regarded by the executive as desirable in view of the probability that the naval oil reserves transferred to the interior department and leased to private interests under Secretary Fall may revert to the navy department as the result of legal proceedings by the government's oil counsel.

Several Are Mentioned.

White house officials emphasized today that the president had not as yet gotten down to the consideration of names. Speculation with respect to the selection, however, brought into mention John Hays Hammond, mining engineer and inventor of number of appliances now used by the navy; George E. Foss, of Chicago, chairman of the house naval affairs committee for eight years, and former Representative Kelley, of Michigan, who was chairman of the appropriations subcommittee on naval matters in the last congress.

Charles B. Warren, former ambassador to Japan, whose name was mentioned yesterday in connection with the naval portfolio, is expected to be appointed ambassador to Mexico within a few days and accordingly his name has been eliminated from the list of probable selections. The name of Miles Poindexter, now ambassador to Peru, who as senator from Washington served as acting chairman of the senate naval committee in the last congress, also has been brought forward and likewise eliminated in official discussion because of the president's desire to retain him at his present post.

Wants Roosevelt's Seal.

Slight belief exists in official quarters that Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, will be elevated to the secretaryship. Mr. Coolidge let it be known today that he expected him to remain as assistant secretary although demand was made in the senate during the day by Senator Harrison, Mississippi, that Mr. Roosevelt also resign.

The resignation of Secretary Denby was the subject of a statement tonight by Senator Hays Hammond, chairman of the naval committee, who declared President Coolidge owed "a debt of gratitude to the democratic party for having set in motion the irresistible force of public opinion, resulting in the resignation of Secretary Denby, the first act in a needed house-cleaning of the republican national administration."

"On the face of the letters which passed between President Coolidge and Secretary Denby, it is apparent that the president would have done nothing of his own volition to bring about Secretary Denby's resignation or to summarily remove him from his cabinet," said Chairman Hull.

"By expressing his regret to part with Secretary Denby and giving him a clean bill of health in the matter of the naval oil leases, by raising the 'sense of public duty' and his 'fine sense of loyalty,' the president seems to put the seal of his approval on Secretary Denby's defiant statement that he would do the same thing over again."

"The same force of public opinion created by the oil investigation so efficiently and successfully conducted by Senator Wheeler, of Montana, and his democratic associates on the committee should continue to make itself felt until Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt and Attorney General Daugherty can no longer resist the pressure upon them to resign, for there is no harmful indication that President Coolidge will remove them in view of the fact that he has removed Secretary Denby in his cabinet for so long a time after his usefulness was destroyed."

Washington, February 19.—The trail of the oil inquiry, after devious ramblings, led directly back today to the United States senate.

When the oil committee met behind closed doors to examine certain records of the Benard stock brokerage firm, of New York, it found the name of a senator entered there. Pending a more complete examination of all the records of the firm in New York, the name was withheld. While pledged to secrecy now, committee members declared that when the audit of the books for transactions in oil and other stocks by other government officials had been finished there would be no suppression of any of the facts unearthed.

Additional information with regard to such stock transactions will be sought by the committee tomorrow at another executive session at which it expects to examine Harry Payne Whitney, New York financier, who failed to appear today in response to a subpoena. Mr. Whitney is hurrying to Washington from the south.

Discuss "Immunity."

Aside from examination of a partial record of transactions through the Benard firm, the committee in consultation with Alice Pomerehne and Mexico, City, February 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Federal troops have occupied Morelia without fighting, the rebels having evacuated the city, according to a war department report today.

The federal forces are under the command of General Juan Jose Rios, with General Vicente Gonzales second in command.

Four thousand men divided into several columns are being sent to march against Marcial Cavazos, who is operating in the state of Hidalgo, cutting the railways and dynamiting trains. Cavazos has divided his forces into three bands.

Dispatches from Pachuca report continuous arrival of federal forces of the commands of Generals Celestino Gasca and Benito Garcia, who are charged with the protection of that city while other detachments are pursuing the rebels.

Negotiations for the surrender of several rebel leaders operating in the Tuxpan region started yesterday between Generals Lorenzo Munoz, military commandant of Tampico, and Daniel Herrera, who heads about 500 rebels in northern Vera Cruz. Herrera offers to negotiate for the surrender of other rebel leaders and President Obregon has instructed General Munoz to carry on the negotiations.

Special dispatches from Vera Cruz report that foreigners are leaving Puerto Mexico and embarking on board the U. S. S. Richmond, fearing a battle between the rebels and the federal forces now approaching that port.

Men Is "Squalid and Odious Gratuity."

Washington, February 19.—The senate took a hand today in the bonus stir-up. After listening to a fight precipitated by a declaration of Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, that the compensation proposal was a "squalid and odious gratuity" it voted for an inquiry into charges attributed to Colonel Thomas Miller, alien property custodian, that the treasury had "juggled" its estimates of the cost of a bonus.

The investigation was proposed in a resolution introduced yesterday by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, and which was adopted today without a record vote and after only a brief explanation by the Mississippi senator. It puts the investigation in the hands of the senate finance committee.

Before Senator Bruce had time for a breathing spell after his address on the bonus, Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, had called him a champion of the "Jack Dempseys of the war," and a number of others were on their feet to take exception to some of his remarks.

O'Ryan Under Fire.

On top of this Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, charged that Major General John P. O'Ryan had violated the quasi-confidential relations of lawyer and client by trying to use in anti-bonus work the organization built during his service as special counsel with the senate committee which investigated the Veterans' bureau.

After Senator Bruce had expressed the opinion that the bonus was "indispensable in principle," Senator Caraway charged that the Maryland senator had evidenced no concern "when the railroads sought and got a bonus of $1,800,000,000."

"I remember," said Mr. Caraway, "that in his zeal to maintain the Eesh-Cummings act, he switched his vote against a member of his own party. No man who has the proper American spirit will stand here and denounce the American soldier as a danger."

Taxes Cause Opposition.

Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, said most of the bonus opposition apparently was based on support of the Mellon tax plan.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, interpreting the Maryland senator's remarks as criticizing pop-bonus veterans for opposing tax reduction, said he would consider their service in defeating the Mellon plan "equal to that which they rendered on the battlefield."

In criticizing General O'Ryan, Senator Robinson also mentioned activities of the former committee counsel which he said were in support of the Mellon plan. Senator Reed, re-

Kansas City, Mo., February 19.—A delicately perfumed smoke screen threatened to envelop the marital peace of Jack Conroe and his pretty wife, here Tuesday.

Mrs. Conroe didn't stutter when, in municipal court, she declared that she enjoyed a "fix" after dinner and several at different intervals during the day. She had ordered her husband arrested for non-support.

Did the judge think it was wrong for her to smoke?

"This is an age of equal rights, young man," Judge M. J. Kilroy addressed Conroe. "If you smoke your wife has a right to do the same."

Conroe grinned broadly.

"That's just it, Judge," he answered. "I don't object to her smoking, but she won't use the same brand I do. She wants better cigarettes. If we'd use the same kind I could cut down expenses. I don't make enough money to keep her in the cigarettes she desires."

Judge Kilroy, after considerable thought, gave Mrs. Conroe seven days to adjust her taste to the brand of cigarettes her husband uses.

BISHOP JOHN GUNN

Sacred Heart Church, in New Orleans.

Bishop John Edward Gunn, founder of Marist college and former pastor of the Sacred Heart church, died Tuesday at a hospital in New Orleans, according to dispatches from the Louisiana city. At the time of his death he was bishop of the Natchez diocese, which includes the entire state of Mississippi. His death was attributed to heart disease.

Bishop Gunn was one of the most prominent figures in the Catholic church in America. During his career in Atlanta he was popular among all creeds. He was active in all civic and charitable movements and was known for his strong spiritual influence in the community. His local ministry lasted 33 years.

Bishop Gunn, who was 61 years old, was taken to New Orleans hospital from Natchez, Miss., on December 29, last, suffering from a serious heart malady, dispatches stated. Since that time little hope had been held out by hospital physicians for his recovery.

Born in Ireland.

He was born in county Derry, Ireland, in 1863. He received his primary education in the schools of north Ireland. After completing studies in the Marist school, at Dunblak, Ireland, he joined the Marist order and was sent to Rome to complete his studies. He received the degree of doctor of divinity in Rome in 1889. In 1894 he was ordained into the priesthood at Rome.

For two years he taught theology in England and Ireland. In 1892 he came to America and was an instructor at the Catholic university in Washington, D. C., until 1898. He left Washington to become pas-

More than $100,000 worth of 1924 model automobiles and accessories had been sold from the floor of the Southern Automobile show at the Atlanta city auditorium when the doors closed at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night, the third of the 1924 automotive exposition. This figure, exhibitors stated, smashed records of previous years and exceeded all expectations of the promoters of the show. The sales included 60 new automobiles.

Dealers attributed the brisk demand to the unusual number of improvements and refinements in design and equipment which have been made in the new cars and to the generally lower price scales and increased operating efficiency and economy achieved through them.

Despite the chilly and wet weather the crowds which began with a record-breaking day on last Saturday, continued to flow to the auditorium Tuesday.

Out-of-Town Visitors.

In view of the misty rain which began before the doors opened Tuesday morning and continued until they closed at night, the large crowd that attended the third day of the show was a great tribute to the interesting exhibits on display.

The large attendance Tuesday was swelled by an ever-increasing number of out-of-town visitors to the show; dealers, manufacturers, factory officials and motorists whom the weather could not keep away.

Visitors to the show are unanimous in their praise of the decorations which were planned by Virgil Shepard.

Golden Sunset Colors.

The golden sunset color-scheme, the hangings of golden burling and sun-lux, the fleur-de-lis standards with interlocking garlands of roses and poppies, the indirect lighting system and draped chandeliers, set off the gleaming array of new cars to advantage.

Another feature of the show this year which has met public favor is that each exhibitor has a corps of salesmen in attendance at all times to explain each feature of the new models to interested spectators.

Twelve of the exhibitors are displaying skeleton working models, highly nicked and polished, with one side of the engine and transmission open, showing just how the pistons, valves and gears work. These exhibits have become popular, exhibitors say, showing that the public is becoming more interested in the "insards" of the automobile.

The accessory exhibits are receiving a larger share of the attendance this year than ever before. The booths are attractively arranged and decorated, and the exhibits are most interesting. One of the accessory exhibits, displaying windshield glass, weather vane and automobile emblems, reported that he closed enough orders the first day of the show to more than pay for the space and exhibit.

Band Concert Tuesday.

"Laurier and His Band" entertained the throngs with a splendid program. This is one of the largest and best bands ever heard in Atlanta, and make a welcome added feature to the show.

With better weather today it is expected that the auditorium will again be packed to capacity with eager motorists and prospective motorists anxious to get a glance at the latest automobile industry has to offer.

cepted Money.

Washington, February 19.—The attempt to drive Attorney General Daugherty from the cabinet was renewed today after he had adopted an attitude of defiance toward his critics.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, not only charged on the senate floor that the attorney general's name was mixed in the oil scandal from the first but he charged that Mr. Daugherty's personal friends had been accepting money in exchange for their influence with him and added that "if the attorney general has not actually got the money, he is a bigger fool than the people of the United States give him credit for being."

"This is only a small portion, of the testimony that will be produced," Senator Wheeler said, "showing beyond any question of doubt in my mind that the attorney general of the United States, instead of prosecuting crime, has been protecting crime and criminals."

Urges Sweeping Probe.

The speech of the Montana senator was delivered in behalf of his resolution asking for a sweeping investigation of Mr. Daugherty's official record. He sought immediate action but consent was refused by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the republican leader, because of Mr. Wheeler's proposal that he himself select the investigating committee.

Tonight the attorney general not only maintained his determination against retiring from office under fire but also refused to make any reply to the attacks upon him. There has been a suggestion that Mr. Daugherty might make a statement after today's cabinet meeting but he left the white house and went to his home to spend the remainder of the day without a word as to his intentions.

Resignation Not Discussed.

Prior to the cabinet session a belief had prevailed in some quarters that the question of Mr. Daugherty's remaining in office would be taken up in connection with a general discussion of the more recent disclosures in the oil inquiry.

All of the members united in a statement after the meeting that the oil investigation was not discussed and later President Coolidge authorized the statement that not only had Mr. Daugherty not resigned, but that there had been no discussion of him

Seven Car Loads of Finest Edibles

From Maine to California

Come these fresh and inviting foods for our patrons. Ordinarily, just at this season, we could be offering fine garden truck grown in Georgia and adjoining states. The laying season is on. Fresh laid eggs are easier to get than storage eggs. Every egg we are offering now is fresh laid—none perhaps more than three to five days old. Added to this, we candle every egg before it is placed in our carton, thus doubly assuring its freshness and wholesomeness. And every empty carton of our eggs counts for votes in the big label contest. If turned in in perfect condition double votes are given.

GEORGIA COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE FRAUDS

A number of alleged frauds in the sale of lands lying outside of the state have been reported to the securities commission, and that body decided Tuesday to publish advertisements in daily papers of Georgia warning people against investing in these lands. Chief Examiner T. B. Conner recently made a trip to the Muscle Shoals district in Alabama to investigate land speculators in that district. He found there were 65 subdivisions in the district and city lots were being offered at high prices ten or fifteen miles away from the three cities in the territory and far from the government reservation. Intense interest is reported throughout the district in leasing of government property and speculation is predicated on development which is expected to follow action of congress. That some of these offers are honest and give the investor an opportunity to make money, Mr. Conner declared, was beyond dispute. All of them, however, were highly speculative and a large number without any merit. Agents representing Texas land companies whose activities have recently been exposed by Senator Hefflin, of Alabama, stirred the postoffice department to make an investigation. It was found that organized excursions were made to take people to the Mexican border where lands in arid territories and in unproductive sections have been sold them. Reports have also reached the commission, Mr. Conner said, of city lots offered in Miami, Fla., and of orchard units located in Florida and in Georgia, in violation of the law.

The securities commission is trying to arouse the people to the necessity of care in purchase of these lands, it is said, and to show them that money going out of the state in these speculations, if properly invested in Georgia land, would prove far more profitable to the investor. Following an opinion of the attorney general, the commission adopted a rule that dividends paid out of premiums for the sale of stock above par, or profits earned from partial payments where the stock is never delivered, should not be counted to qualify an otherwise speculative security as a class "C," or investment stock.

M. Patterson & Son, Dr. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, will officiate. Dr. Hicks was a past president of the Southern Homeopathic association and was the first woman to practice medicine in Atlanta. She was well known in national medical circles.

After the funeral the body will be taken to her former home, Richmond, Ind., for interment. Dr. Hicks was the mother of Lonie D. Hicks, vice president of the Southern Ruralist, and former president of the Rotary club. Past presidents of the Rotary club will form an honorary escort at the funeral.

Walker's Georgia development commission. The committee, appointed at a meeting of the full commission Tuesday morning to reconvene to the governor the program to be followed, met Tuesday afternoon and launched investigations in three different directions, the results of which will be reported to Governor Walker, who will submit them to a later meeting of the full commission.

A subcommittee composed of E. B. Walker, of Savannah, and Fred Warde, of Brunswick, was appointed to investigate the work now being done by Georgia cities, chambers of commerce and corporation development bureaus and advise the governor as to what steps can be taken toward coordinating their work. The report will also include suggestions for the $1,000,000 advertising budget.

To Get California Ideas. The governor was asked by the committee to request all railroads which maintain industrial bureaus to send special representatives to California to investigate the California plan of state and county community advertising and base recommendations for Georgia on the California plan.

The governor was asked further to appoint another special committee to investigate the Florida plan of advertising and the development programs now in operation there, basing on them recommendations for Georgia.

The committee recommended that the governor's commission be called "The Georgia Development Board" and act as far as possible as a medium for coordinating all state, city and corporation development programs now being carried out.

The committee is composed of P. T. Anderson, of Macon, chairman; F. A. Wilson-Lawrence, of Atlanta, secretary; Fred Warde, of the Brunswick Board of Trade; Dr. A. M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture; E. W. Walker, Savannah; W. E. French, Valdosta; and W. C. Crites, Rome.

Non-Political Body. Governor Walker presided and stated at the full commission meeting that he wanted work of the commission to be entirely non-political, non-partisan and non-sectional. He wanted it to serve for the purpose of making Georgia a better place for Georgians of today and for people from other sections who will be attracted to come here.

Mr. Wilson-Lawrence, of Atlanta, suggested that a survey in order to ascertain just what the state has to offer to outsiders should be the first step taken. He also was responsible for the suggestion that a high-class executive should be employed.

The fullest cooperation of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce was pledged by Paul Norcross, president of that organization.

Will Sell Georgia. Dr. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture, said one of the first things to be done was to sell Georgia to Georgians. He also asked that a "cultural development" be given prominence with industrial development in the work of the organization.

An intensive campaign to interest all present industrial organizations in this new central board was suggested by R. E. L. Neal, of Albany. Several railroad industrial bureaus, through their representatives present at the meeting, pledged complete cooperation including sums for advertising in national magazines. These gentlemen also urged that the newspapers be asked to stop playing up stories of crime in Georgia and stories stating that many Georgia farmers were deserting their farms.

In closing the conference Governor Walker paid tribute to the work for the development and advancement of the state already being done by the state agricultural department, the state board of health, the state highway department, the State College of Agriculture and other state departments and institutions. He assured those present at the meeting that every state department would gladly cooperate in the work to the utmost of its ability.

Georgia Day Is On Right Date, Says Dr. Jacobs

BY RALPH T. JONES.
In The Constitution of February 13 there appeared an article concerning the previous day's celebration of Georgia day in Atlanta. In that story, the question was asked as to what was the exact date on which Oglethorpe landed in Savannah—or rather, it was asked, if Oglethorpe Bluff, the site of the present city of Savannah.

Now comes to the rescue Dr. Thoswell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university, with the desired information.

In the story of February 13 it was pointed out there is in existence a letter dated "Savannah, February 10, 1733," signed by Oglethorpe, indicating he must have been there before February 12, the date named in his honor as supposed to be correct.

Calendar Changed. It also was pointed out that in 1752, almost 20 years later, the British empire changed from the Julian calendar to the Gregorian, making a considerable difference in dates and it was wondered whether this had been taken into account in fixing February 12 as the date of the landing.

It was, says President Jacobs. In November, 1732, Oglethorpe left England, he continued. He landed at Charleston, S. C., on January 13, 1733. From there the little band of colonists went to Beaufort, S. C., arriving on January 20. Here General Oglethorpe left the colonists, going to explore the Savannah river to decide the best location for his settlement. In a letter he wrote February 10, addressed to the trustees of the colony, in England, he states the colonists all arrived on February 1.

Now, when the change of calendar took place, eleven days were dropped, says Dr. Jacobs, therefore making February 1 by their calendar, February 12 by ours—which means the date we celebrate, February 12, is right, after all.

HOT SOUP BURNS FATAL TO CHILD

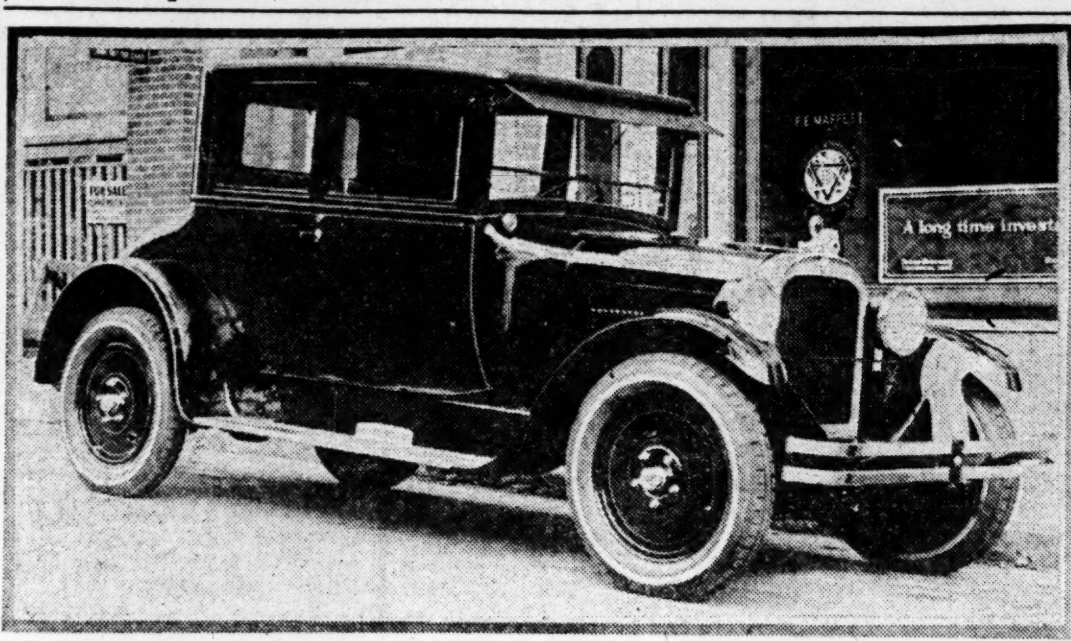

The death early Tuesday morning of 20-months-old J. T. Easterwood, Jr., brought to an end a fight which doctors waged for 15 hours to save him from burns he received about 11 o'clock Monday morning, when he tilted a pot of hot soup from his mother's stove on his head.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Easterwood, of 935 East Fair street. His mother had just left the kitchen for a few minutes when he pulled downward on the pot handle, upsetting the boiling soup.

Besides his parents, a sister, two brothers and his grandparents survive him. The body was removed to the chapel of Barclay & Brandon.

GUNS OF SENATE ROAR AS BONUS ROW BREAKS

Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, replied that General O'Ryan had completed his services with the committee long before incidents referred to by the democratic leader.

Soldiers Pay Eventually. "There is a lot of nonsense uttered here," said Senator Reed,

"about propaganda. Boiled down, it simply comes to the fact that one man is attempting to air his views to the country and they are not in accordance with ours. General O'Ryan, as a soldier with an unusual record, is against the bonus for the same reason that I am; a belief that the soldier group, the earning class, will eventually pay for it and for the war loans."

Senator Owen, democrat, Oklahoma, ended the debate by announcing he had decided to support the bonus after having been heretofore opposed to it. He gave as his reason that he was convinced the treasury had over-estimated the cost of a compensation measure by $900,000,000.

"If I thought all our world-war service men were soliciting the bonus," Senator Bruce said, "my faith in popular rule and its ability to resist class pressure would be destroyed. I would be driven to the conclusion that the tendency of the great body of our voters to break into special groups or blocs, which is the most alarming feature of our political life at the present time, had reached its culmination, and that henceforth government in the United States would be given over to the wretched business of setting off one selfish class against another."

Ready To Help Disabled. Senator Bruce asserted, however, there had been no conclusive evidence that even a majority of the veterans desired the bonus, and cited the organization of the anti-bonus league of veterans with its motto—"for the disabled—everything; for the able-bodied—nothing," as illustrative of the sentiment of many.

The government rightly has made bountiful provision for the disabled, the Maryland senator said, analyzing past and current appropriations for the veterans' bureau, but even this should not be carried to a point where it "partakes of the nature of wanton waste or administrative scandal."

"Summing up, without hesitation, I reach the conclusion that the proposed bonus is not only indefensible in principle, but if it were not, would even as a measure of practical relief be most illogical, and unequal in the distribution of its benefits.

"The only satisfaction I can derive from the proposition is that it may give the people of the United States a new sense of the importance of devising some international plan by which war may be brought to an end altogether."

BUSINESS GOOD, SAYS COOLIDGE

Washington, February 19.—President Coolidge regards business generally as in a healthy condition and believes the American people can feel safely that the great bulk of the country's business is carried on without any suggestion of wrongdoing.

Mr. Coolidge allowed his views on business conditions to become known after today's cabinet meeting at which he and his advisers made a general survey of conditions.

Reports were understood to have reached administrative officials that the business situation had been somewhat injured by the disclosures in the oil investigation, but it is Mr. Coolidge's opinion that there should be no fear on the part of business men generally, that many of the rumors spread about as a result of the oil inquiry will be found without basis, and that the country may look forward to the coming months hopefully and without fear either as to prosperity in business matters or as to the regular normal functioning of the government.

Each of the members of the president's official family having to do with business conditions acquainted the president with the situation reached by the bituminous operators and miners yesterday at Jacksonville.

The discussion brought forth that there was no material unemployment anywhere, and that while orders on hand in some branches of industry were not large, it was the result of the policy of refusing to book orders far in advance because of possible price changes rather than any feeling of fear on the part of the interests involved.

Manufacturers generally were reported as finding a ready market. Indications were seen of promising activities in the building trades as the building season opens. The boot and shoe trade, the textile industry and the iron and steel business were found to be active and in a favorable condition.

The note of confidence was further strengthened in the president's view by the tentative wage agreements reached by the bituminous operators and miners yesterday at Jacksonville.

Fatally Wounded, He Manacles Self To Robber Suspect

Geneva, N. Y., February 19.—Although probably fatally wounded, Aeneas McDonald of the Geneva police, today manacled himself to a suspected burglar after the latter had shot him three times. A minute later the officer lapsed into unconsciousness.

McDonald grappled with the suspect when he found him loitering about the New York Central yards. The fugitive pressed his automatic against the officer and fired three shots in rapid succession. "He fell to the ground struggling, manacled, fast losing strength, managed to snap his handcuffs to the right wrist of his prisoner and to his own before he collapsed."

Other police found the pair. As they did not have the key to the handcuffs, it was necessary to take both men to the hospital. Here the manacles were filed off while surgeons prepared McDonald's body for the operating table.

The prisoner refused to give his name or talk. A safe in the offices of the New York Central railroad here was found to have been drilled ready for blowing. It was thought that the prisoner was waiting for a train to pass to drown the noise of the explosion.

GWINNETT DEPUTY CLAIMS 'FRAME-UP'

Arguments in the case of the United States against Sheriff E. S. Garner and Deputy Sheriff J. M. Bennard, of Gwinnett county, charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, will be opened when district court reconvenes this morning.

At the time of adjournment Tuesday all evidence had been presented. After the jury was excused for the day Judge Robert T. Ervin, presiding for Judge Samuel H. Sibley, requested counsel to agree on the time for arguments and it was at once agreed that each side would argue not more than one hour and a half.

A sensation was sprung Tuesday when Deputy Sheriff Bennard charged that "marked money" which the government alleges was paid to him in exchange for "protection" to "Red" Tush, alleged liquor runner, had been "planted" on his person.

Another development of the day was the dismissal of the case against Deputy Sheriff Howard Garner, son of the sheriff, who was named a defendant in the joint indictment charging conspiracy. On motion of defense attorneys, who argued that the evidence tendered by the government did not involve the younger Garner, Judge Ervin announced to the jury that the deputy would no longer be on trial.

The "frame-up" charge by Deputy Sheriff Bennard was made when he took the stand to relate to the jury his story of the events resulting in the indictment. He stated that he had signed the alleged confession in the possession of the government without reading it. According to the alleged confession, Bennard received $100 from Tush in accordance with an agreement which had the sanction of Sheriff Garner. His story to the jury in the main was a different version.

Bennard stated that he had been a deputy sheriff for four years. He first met "Red" Tush in Lawrenceville, he said, when Tush told him that he wanted to haul whisky through Gwinnett county.

"I told him 'your job is to haul it, but mine is to catch you,' Bennard said. He denied making any agreement with Tush, as alleged by the prosecution.

Explains Marked Money.
"A few minutes after Tush left," he said, "somebody knocked on my door and I opened it. There were three or four men and they rushed in and grabbed me. That man they call Golding put his hand into my right trousers pocket and jerked it out and said, 'here's what we want.' His hand was closed when he put it in my pocket and he knows the money he said he found in my pocket was in his hand all the time."

Quizzed as to the alleged confession, Bennard said: "Golding told me if I did not sign it he would take me to the federal prison right away and I told him I would sign anything as I wanted to go home. I didn't write it and I didn't hear it read before I signed it."

Sheriff Garner, who took the stand after Bennard, denied making any agreement with Tush, as had been alleged by Tush in his testimony. Following his arrest, he said, Golding handed him a paper, informed him that Bennard had confessed and that he declined to sign it. He denied that he had told Bennard he would "back him up."

Sheriff Approached.
He said that Tush approached him with a proposition to permit whisky to pass through Gwinnett county.

"Tush came to me and said he was going to haul whisky through Gwinnett county," Sheriff Garner said, "and I said to him: 'Go to it, young sprout, and if I can I will catch you.'"

T. E. Stone, of the internal revenue department, was called by the government in rebuttal. Stone testified that he was present when the Gwinnett officers were questioned by Golding and denied that Golding had been abusive or threatening in attempting to obtain statements from the prisoners. He was the final witness.

Owners Identify 11 Stolen Autos Held In Coumbus

Columbus, Ga., February 19.—Eleven automobiles of a popular make were brought to Columbus and the majority of them identified today by residents of Atlanta, from whom they had been stolen, according to deputy Sheriffs Mayfield and Lamb, of Muscogee county.

The automobiles were recovered at various points in Harris county, where they had been sold for the most part to negroes. The cars are alleged to have been stolen in Atlanta by an organized gang of "junior thieves."

The county officers were assisted by a member of the investigating department of an automobile insurance firm.

Plain Clothes.—Officers A. Lamar Poole and S. A. Smith will leave Atlanta today for Columbus to investigate the reported recovery in that city of eleven automobiles believed to have been stolen from Atlantans.

The capture was made by Columbus officials on information furnished by Captain A. J. Holcombe, of the plainclothes department, which had been gathered by Chief Poole and Officer Smith, who have been detailed to trace stolen cars.

The machines, some of them of expensive makes, are believed to have been stolen by "junior" thieves. They were disposed of at small prices, it is said—this leading Columbus officers to investigate. No arrests have been made.

CARTER DEMANDS APOLOGY; IS TOLD TO WORK OR SUE

Luxor, February 19.—Following the Egyptian government's 48-hour ultimatum demanding that he resume work on the tomb of Tutankhamen or withdraw from the project entirely, Howard Carter has announced that he will start work again if the government apologizes for alleged discourtesies and promises not to interfere with his operations.

Carter declares that unless the government agrees to these terms he will bring suit against it. The government Monday gave Carter 48 hours in which to resume and officials declared that the government would take over operations at the tomb unless Carter complied.

Maxim To Assail Tea and Coffee Addicts in Court

Morristown, N. J., February 19.—Hudson Maxim, famous inventor, of Lake Hopatcong, who has declared that under the eighteenth amendment tea and coffee are to be regarded as intoxicating, and traffic prohibited, announced today he had retained Elmer King, a lawyer of this city, to bring friendly suit against a well-known hotel in Newark to test the validity of the amendment. He said he was entirely in earnest in bringing the action.

Mr. Maxim said that he was strongly in favor of moderation in drinking as in everything else, but that "prohibition at the point of a pistol" would never produce the cooperation "needed to destroy the evils of drink." The eighteenth amendment, Mr. Maxim said, did not refer to alcoholic drinks, but to intoxicating drinks, and under this latter classification, he declared, tea and coffee came quite as much as whisky, though not in the same degree.

$100,000 FOR SURVEY OF TENNESSEE RIVER

Washington, February 19.—Army engineers allotted today from current rivers and harbors improvement funds $100,000 for a survey of the Tennessee river through Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky.

Major General Lansing Beach, chief of army engineers, explained that the new allotment would complete the survey of the Tennessee river as authorized by congress at a cost of $200,000. Half of that sum already has been expended and the allotment made today will finance the completion of the survey. Army engineers making the survey are investigating conditions on the Tennessee river with particular reference to navigation and power development.

She can't stop to listen—

THIS young woman has just bought a pair of shoes. She needs, or will soon need, some dainty hosiery, a pair of dancing pumps, and other feminine requisites that this store sells.

But she is in a hurry and can't stop to hear about them now.

Suppose you were this merchant. Would you let her leave without an effort to sell her these other articles?

She can't stop to listen to your story—but she can take it away; and, when she has time, she will read it.

She is going to buy that hosiery and those pumps—somewhere.

An attractive little folder or booklet, enclosed in the package she is carrying home, would remind her, just as you would have reminded her if she had not been in a hurry, that you sell those very articles she needs.

A few good pictures in that folder or booklet would show them to her—just as you would have shown them to her—if you'd had the chance.

A well prepared and attractively printed booklet or folder enclosed with every package that leaves your factory or store would interest the buyer in other articles you make or sell.

Furthermore, it would probably be seen and read by the buyer's family, and perhaps her friends and neighbors also.

And, as more people become interested in your product, more people will buy it.

Ask your printer to show you examples of package enclosures that are building business for others. Some of these may suggest a kind that should be profitable to you.

ENGLE INDICTED IN AUTO CRASH

As a result of a probe of several months into the accident in which Ralph Finch was killed, the Fulton county grand jury Tuesday returned an indictment charging involuntary manslaughter against Tracy Engle, of 1800 Peachtree road, young Atlanta broker. Finch was killed when the automobile driven by Engle crashed into two telephone posts on Peachtree road, throwing Finch from the machine. The indictment embraced two counts, driving an automobile while intoxicated and driving at a higher rate of speed than 30 miles an hour.

A bench warrant was issued for Engle's arrest immediately after announcement that the indictment had been returned. Finch's widow appeared before the jury as prosecutor.

Besides Engle and Finch occupants of the car at the time of the fatal mishap were Charles L. King, Jr., a glassware jobber of New York city; Mrs. Lottie W. Farmer, and Mrs. T. R. Enright, both of Atlanta. The accident occurred early Sunday morning, September 30, 1923.

NAME OF SENATOR ON BROKER LIST

Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel in the oil cases, discussed the question of possible immunity from prosecution of witnesses who might be able to furnish information of the highest importance.

This discussion was precipitated by an inquiry from one important witness now under subpoena as to just what the attitude of the government could be in his particular case in the event he agreed to tell all he knew. The matter finally was referred to counsel who will advise the committee later as to their conclusion.

Before the committee had wound up its secret session, the oil scandal had become the subject of another lively debate on the senate floor. Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, defending and Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, assailing William G. McAfee, a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, in connection with his professional services to the Doherty interests.

Attack on Roosevelt. Declaring that the country desires earnestly that "the government be purged of everyone having a connection with the oil leases," Senator Harrison demanded that Assistant Secretary Roosevelt quit along with Secretary Denby.

"If Denby should go out, Roosevelt must get out," he said.

Charging that some republican party leaders were "defending" the Doherty and Sinclair leases, Senator Harrison referred to an editorial in the recent issue of the National Republican.

He scored particularly a statement in the editorial that 95 per cent of the evidence before the oil committee was "bunk." George B. Lockwood, editor of the National Republican, issued a statement later in the day, in which he said that "the statement that the National Republican has 'defended' the Sinclair-Doherty lease is shown by a reading of the text of the article, without garbling or misinterpretation, to be untrue."

WILL LOSE NO TIME SAY U. S. OIL PROBERS.

Washington, February 1.—The special counsel in the oil lease prosecution, Alton Pomerene and Owen Roberts, have settled down to study the evidence taken by the senate investigating committee with the promise that no time will be lost in diligently and urgently presenting the claims of the government and in prosecuting any criminally guilty. Some time will elapse before legal steps are taken.

The two lawyers called on President Coolidge Tuesday to receive their commission, consulted with the senate investigating committee regarding exact evidence of stock market speculation by officials and later issued the following statement:

"Messrs. Pomerene and Roberts state to the representatives of the press that they today received their commissions from the president. Their time for the immediate future will be devoted to the study of record, which already consists of over 2,000 closely printed pages, and to the preparation of the pleadings required to inau-

"The many issues involved and the complicated legal questions to be considered necessitate much careful preparation by counsel prior to the bringing of any law suits. No time

72 Years Old, But Actively On Job

Railroad Man Attributes Good Health and Strength to TANLAC.

Seventy-two years of age, but still in possession of the priceless boon of good health and actively on the job with the Central Vermont Railroad, where he has worked for 40 years, is the remarkable record of H. H. Moore, 24 Messenger St., Albans, Vt., who attributes his present health and strength to the use of TANLAC.

"I have never in my life seen the equal of TANLAC," said Mr. Moore recently. "After spending a lot of money on things that proved worthless for stomach trouble of the most obstinate kind, TANLAC made me feel like an entirely different man. For nearly two years I had been gradually getting worse, and my strength and vitality had got so low it was hard for me to attend to my duties. Indigestion, constipation and nervousness made life miserable before I found TANLAC, but now my health is normal and I feel happy as a work. I shall always be grateful to TANLAC."

A Song of Late Blossoms

You don't see the blossoms.

The Springtime comes so late!

That's why the old man's standing

Yonder—at the gate.

(He wonders, when it's morning,

Why Springtime comes so late?)

He says: "The season's changing—

Tain't like it was of old."

(He's thinking of a sweetheart,

When he kissed her curls of gold.

He doesn't dream the story

Of his life's first love is told.)

You don't see the blossoms,

For Winter will not go;

And said it is to linger

On the snow-capped hills.

And Love was sweet to know!

2,500,000 Dollars For Your SAFETY

In order to increase the factor of safety to the millions of passengers who move over its tracks during the year, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad is spending millions of dollars in equipping its tracks with an electrically-controlled, automatic block signal system.

These signals protect trains against head-on and rear-end collisions, open switches, broken rails, or cars on the siding standing too close to the main track. In addition to the safety features, these signals expedite traffic and enable trains to be run more nearly on time.

Beginning in 1912, the L. & N. now has completed and has under construction and contracted for, 1,089 miles of such signals—at a cost of $2,592,000.00, or $2,380.00 per mile. The company spends $220,000.00 every year to keep these signals in good working order.

Constant watchfulness and care on the part of the L. & N. organization, coupled with the Management's policy of providing proved safety devices, has resulted in the L. & N. having an enviable record for safety to passengers.

Americus Helps To Build LOCAL BOUNDARIES ERASED IN STATE-WIDE TRIBUTE Atlanta Wilson Memorial

Atlanta's $50,000 memorial to Woodrow Wilson became a state-wide movement Tuesday with receipt by The Constitution of a contribution from Dr. E. L. Thurman, of America's largest medical organization, with a memorial poem expressing the idea that the war president will be a living force in world affairs until his dream of world peace is realized.

Dr. Thurman's was the first out-of-town gift among the many voluntary contributions to the fund that have been forwarded to General Chairman J. L. McCord, Treasurer Eugene R. Black and Mayor Walter A. Sims, since the mass meeting at city auditorium the day of the Wilson funeral when more than 5,000 Atlantans voted support to a memorial here.

PROTECTING CRIME LAID TO DAUGHTERY Continued From First Page.

Some of Mr. Daugherty's friends declared tonight that regardless of the advice of those who believe he should resign he never would do so unless directly requested by the president. It was apparent that Mr. Coolidge, on the other hand, was not at break with him.

Tom Felder Named.

In his charges on the senate floor that friends of Mr. Daugherty had accepted money, Senator Wheeler named Jesse Smith, of Ohio, who committed suicide in the attorney general's apartment here last May and "the attorney general's former partner, T. B. Felder."

Senator Wheeler made his senate speech after he had appeared before the oil committee in executive session and had refused to furnish information regarding investigations which have been made into charges of stock speculation by government officials. He would not reveal the character of this information but promised that if necessary he would produce it publicly at the proper time.

The Montana senator proposed as members of the investigating committee, the selection of Senators Robert H. Taft, of Iowa, Jones of Washington, and McLean of Connecticut, republicans and democrats. Senator Lodge objected saying that designation of the committee members in the resolution was an insult to the president. Senator Wheeler in return asked whether Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, had not given the chair another list for membership on the committee after conferring with Mr. Daugherty.

"After just previously you had conferred with the man who is to be investigated," persisted Senator Wheeler.

"That statement like so many of the senator's is entirely gratuitous," replied the Ohio senator. "It is also beside the point."

Why He Named Committee.

Senator Wheeler then explained that he had undertaken to choose the personnel of the committee because he recalled what had happened during the Daugherty investigation proceedings in the house in 1922. Instead of Mr. Daugherty, he said, "the man who introduced the resolution was, in reality, tried."

"Ever since the attorney general has occupied the important position of the United States, Senator Wheeler continued, "various persons have made against him in the newspapers and by individuals from one end of the country to the other."

"Recently when the oil scandal first developed, it appears that the attorney general's name was mixed in it. It appeared, if you please, that he was a friend of the oil trust. Everybody knows he was a friend of Sinclair. Everybody knows he was a friend of the three men, who were in the apartment of the attorney general from time to time."

"Everybody knows that Jesse Smith was brought from the state of Ohio, and had an office in the department of justice, and who was not on the payroll, was accepting money in connection with various tor of the newly formed Sacred Heart parish in Atlanta. At that time the congregation numbered only a few hundred persons. It has since grown to a membership of approximately 2,000. During his pastorate, Marist colleges, a preparatory institution for boys, located at Ivy and Peachtree streets, was founded by him and opened in 1901.

After a ministry of 13 years at Sacred Heart church, he was made bishop of Natchez, the consecration service taking place here in October, 1911.

Father James Horton, of the Sacred Heart church, announced Tuesday night that a solemn requiem mass for Bishop Gunn will be celebrated at the church early next week, probably on Monday. The exact date, he stated, will be announced at the regular Sunday services.

Father Horton requested that all members of the Sacred Heart parish receive holy communion next Sunday as a testimonial to Bishop Gunn.

The body will be taken to Natchez tomorrow. Funeral services will be held at one o'clock Friday morning in the cathedral at Natchez.

Archbishop Shaw, Monsignor Pennington, Monsignor G. J. Leach of Bay St. Louis, Father Leach of Pass Christian and several bishops of the province will attend the funeral. The interment will be in the Natchez cemetery.

IRENE CASTLE NEEDS TO RECOVER NECKLACE

New York, February 19.—Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin today asked the grand jury to return an indictment of first degree grand larceny against James H. Cooper, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., whom she charges with the theft of her $7,000 pearl necklace.

Mrs. McLaughlin told the jury she lost the necklace in a rooming house in New York City in 1922. She said she had pawned the necklace and kept more than $1,400 they brought.

The dancer, who said she came from Chicago in response to a subpoena, was accompanied by an attorney.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN INCOME TAX BATTLE Continued From First Page.

Freer amendments pending such a vote was not in order and to bring it about, Mr. Madden proposed a surtax maximum of 25 per cent instead of the Mellon 20 per cent, the only point of difference in the two schedules.

The Madden substitute was rejected 241 to 152, about forty republicans, including Chairman Green of Ways and Means committee, joining the democrats in opposition.

Freer Amendment Rejected.

By a standing vote of 251 to 40 the Freer amendment was thrown out and then a vote was taken on the Madden substitute. Representative Longworth, republican leader, having announced that he would offer a compromise to fix the surtax maximum at 37.2 per cent only in the event the democratic plan was rejected.

One democrat, Deal, of Virginia, who at the party caucus announced he was opposed to the Freer plan, did not vote, while three others, Wise, Georgia; Dupre, Louisiana; and Montague, Virginia, were absent.

The 302 other democratic members of the house marched up the center aisle to record their votes for the Freer amendment. With them were the republicans:

The ten in the Wisconsin delegation, Reid, Illinois; Woodruff, Michigan; La Guardia, New York; Davis and Keller, Minnesota; Sinclair, North Dakota; and Nolan, California. Wefald, farmer-laborite, and Kvale, independent, Minnesota, also supported the democratic proposal, while the socialist, Wisconsin, was absent, as were eleven republicans. Representatives Graham, republican, Illinois, presiding, did not vote.

Receive Approval.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away reading of the bill was preceded with until 5:30 o'clock most of the important administrative features receiving approval without question.

In offering his resolution to tax stock dividends, Representative Gardner said that the democratic opposition to the income tax bill, announced democrats were released from the party caucus agreement and said he expected the remainder of the measure to be considered in a non-partisan manner. He predicted, however, that on a record vote on his amendment, if a motion is made to amend the bill, more than 150 votes will be cast against the democratic income rate schedules adopted today.

Mr. Longworth said another vote would be sought but what course of procedure the republicans would pursue in this regard had not been determined tonight. No further action can be taken on this section until the bill is up for passage. The republican leader regretted that the compromise offer was not accepted and said he had been expected in the light of the stand of the insurgents.

Deficit Is Claimed.

Asked as to his opinion as to the probability of President Coolidge's attitude on the democratic rate schedules, Mr. Longworth replied merely that the bill as now framed would result in a deficit of about $200,000,000 from now of $300,000,000.

Delate on the amendments consisted of rapid fire shots by the leaders of both sides, speakers being limited under general rules of the house to five minutes time. Personal exchanges were frequent and there was loud applause repeatedly from the crowded floor. Representative Longworth concluded the republicans' argument with a presentation of his compromise offer which he said he would submit if the Freer plan was defeated, a statement regarded as a last moment appeal to the republican insurgents.

The whole house earlier in the day had sounded out the insurgents. Secretary Clegg expressing the wish to some of the leaders that an agreement be reached with the republicans organization on the income rates. He was told, however, there was no chance of a compromise below the 40 per cent maximum surtax and the 50 per cent cut in normal rates.

Baldwin was selling at 28 3/8 in 1913, that is after the war broke out. It was a time of trade in general and the railway equipment business in particular. Then came a period of depression and the make up for the lost railway equipment business and the stock jumped that year to 154 1/2, but only to drop to 100 in 1920. Special sales of 43,000 bushels of contract corn is on hand in public elevators here. There was talk current, too, that export buying of activity in general trade in 1920 baldly sold up to 148-1/2. But it was common stock.

Fishing

is always better
just across the stream

MANY a time when we were boys, and maybe sometimes later when we were grown up boys, have we sat on the banks of an enticing stream, baiting our hooks, throwing our line into the water, and drawing forth ever and anon a sparkling beauty. But, with greed and longing in our eyes, we looked across to the other side and discovered an attractive pool with the willows bending low from the banks and shading the blue depths. Ah! if we could only cross over and fish that pool, we would have a string to brag about.

All is not gold that glitters, and after, by some ingenuity, we had crossed the stream, we fished that pool for long hours with nary a nibble!

That's just the way with some big buyers of printing. They imagine they must go out of town to find a printer who can measure up to their printing requirements. To them there is a glamour about printers in distant cities. They think they will find lower price with better printing.

They do not stop to consider delays by mail, lack of personal contact, and the advantage of being able to run in and explain numerous little details.

No need to go out of Atlanta for fine printing, whether it be a booklet, a catalog or a complete direct-by-mail campaign. For right here we have a plant as big as the biggest, equipped with all the most modern labor saving machinery, and operated by an organization of experience and skill—an organization that has a record of over thirty-seven years of right dealing, and an enviable reputation in the printing world as producers of fine printing.

COBB COUNTY FARMS BRING HIGH PRICES

Continuing the long series of reports of recent farm land sales in Georgia, The Constitution presents herewith a report of sales, sent in Tuesday by the Holland Realty Company, Inc., of Marietta, Ga. These sales are of lands in Cobb county and add further evidence to the overwhelming testimony of actual sales, published in The Constitution during recent weeks, that Georgia farm lands are in active demand on the market. The magnificent opportunities for agricultural success in this state are fully realized.

The list of Cobb county sales sent in Tuesday is as follows:

R. T. Davis to Mrs. L. P. Williams, 83 acres for $11,000; Sam Barnwell to C. A. DuPree, 40 acres for $13,000; A. J. Webb to Mrs. J. A. Perkins, 40 acres for $12,000; E. L. Cash to Mrs. Davis Norton, 40 acres for $3,780; Chas. Wallace to J. L. Brooks, 19 3/4 acres for $2,700; J. P. Pitts to A. L. Johnson, 59 acres for $2,000; J. C. Roberts to C. A. Roberts, 80 acres for $4,000; A. C. Moon, Sr., to A. C. Moon, Jr., 220 acres for $4,000; Lizzie Benjamin to Charles Overcash, 20 acres for $1,600; Holland Realty Company to E. H. Carroll, 83 acres for $8,500; R. E. Butler to Mrs. J. B. Dudley, 80 acres for $12,500.

Land Frauds Rampant Don't Be a Sucker

Agents of land companies are actively offering lands lying outside of Georgia in violation of the Georgia Securities Law. Investigation shows many of these lands to be valueless.

The Western Ranch and Service Company had an exhibit car stopping at various places in Georgia during January, offering lands of the Choctaw Nation, Oklahoma. Hon. Wm. S. Spry, commissioner of lands, department of interior, advises us that these lands are so poor that an Indian could not make a living on them, that the parties offering them are irresponsible and dare not use the United States mails.

Agents of Texas land companies which are now under investigation by the United States Government for misuse of the mails have organized excursions to take Georgians to the Mexican Border to buy lands that are entirely unproductive without irrigation, which is enormously expensive.

City lots in Miami, Florida, and the Muscle Shoals district of Alabama, have been offered in subdivisions located many miles from any probable development.

Orchard units in Florida and Georgia have been offered without authority of law. Almost every section of the State has been canvassed.

A number of stock frauds have also been reported recently. Most of these frauds are committed through the use of the mails. Of the mail order stock circulars by unauthorized houses investigated by the Commission, one hundred percent have proven to be fraudulent.

Why Not Investigate?

In offering these lands without a license a FELONY HAS BEEN COMMITTED PUNISHABLE BY TWO TO FIVE YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY. The Securities Commission will cooperate with parties defrauded in prosecuting these agents.

DO NOT BUY LANDS OUTSIDE OF GEORGIA WHICH THE SECURITIES COMMISSION HAS NOT INSPECTED. MAKE STOCK SALESMEN SHOW THEIR LICENSES. THE LAW REQUIRES IT. KEEP YOUR MONEY OUT OF THE HANDS OF STRANGERS AND MAIL ORDER HOUSES AND CONFER WITH YOUR LOCAL BANKER BEFORE MAKING INVESTMENTS.

An investment in monthly-income insurance—under a plan of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company—would assure your widow a substantial check each month, as long as she lived.

A TORCH BEARER IN AUTOMOTIVE PROGRESS

DURING two decades of automotive development, Reo has been one of the greatest and most consistent contributors toward permanent betterment of product. Proof of this consists in the fact that many well known practices were not in common usage until Reo created, developed, pioneered or popularized them.

Institutional sure-footedness, which might be taken for conservatism, is opposed to changes which—theoretically beneficial, possibly,—fail to qualify when subjected to exacting laboratory research, exhaustive engineering tests or actual practice tests.

Prior to 1905, the 2-piece radiator—core and shell—was practically unknown. Reo popularized it.

American cars were all right-hand driven at one time. A controversy began to rage as to whether right or left hand drives were most suitable to American usage. Reo settled it by adopting left-hand drives as standard practice. That was in 1909.

Hesitancy prevailed over valve placement; some said valves in head, others stood for the L-head type. Fifteen years ago Reo put its intake valves in the head and the exhaust valves at the side, thereby combining the advantages of both systems.

Electric starting and lighting systems were almost a novelty in 1913. Reo pioneered in making them standard equipment,—that same year!

In 1909 Reo adopted the dual foot control and the dry disc clutch as standard equipment—in 1911 pioneered the use of the center control.

Reo pioneered pneumatic tires for motor trucks, by making them regular equipment on the Speed Wagon in 1915.

It did the same thing with electric lights and starter, as the Speed Wagon was the first strictly commercial car to have such equipment.

In the same year, Reo pioneered a number of other new departures; the oval tube radiator; the transmission speedometer drive; the successful utilization of Lynite or aluminum alloy pistons.

Different body combinations on a standard truck chassis were a Reo innovation in 1916.

In addition to the foregoing, Reo was largely responsible for the general adoption of the spiral bevel gear axle, and a host of other important factors which have been common practice so long as to be taken for granted.

The latest Reo innovations are the use of the famous Reo high-powered six-cylinder engine in a strictly taxicab chassis; and the adoption of balloon tires which are now available on all passenger car models.

Reo has pioneered progress by constantly striving to better the best of existing standards. It has been a stabilizing factor in the industry by its unswerving adherence to high business principles.

Because of such elements, Reo believes it has most scrupulously kept faith with the industry and the buying public.

Organist of Notre Dame De Paris Is Honor Guest at 'Callanwolde'

"Callanwolde," the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Candler, and the center of Atlanta's musical activities of note, was again the scene of interest and brilliancy Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Candler entertained in compliment to Marcel Dupre, world famous organist of Notre Dame de Paris.

Home Decorations.
The magnificent home on Briarcliff road presented a charming appearance with its elaborate decorations of early spring blossoms grown in the greenhouses of "Callanwolde." In the spacious entrance hall where Mr. and Mrs. Candler received their guests tall standards were filled with Easter lilies and baskets of pink roses adorned the mantels and consoles. A lovely combination of pink and yellow snapdragons was used throughout the library, and in the living room low box seats were filled with tulips and hyacinths in a variety of shades.

Artistic Program.
The outstanding feature of the evening's entertainment was the program rendered by the renowned artist and honor guest on the wonderful organ installed in the music room of the home, affording a rare treat to the group of friends and music lovers invited to meet Mr. Dupre. The program was in two parts. The first part included classical selections such as Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D minor, variations from Fifth symphony by Widor, Franck's "Pastorale," Bourdon's "Carillon" and "Corde and Litany" composed by the celebrated artist himself.

The second part of the program was less classical and delightfully informal, including a fantasy, introducing some southern melodies and improvisations upon themes submitted by the guests. The program concluded with several selections by request.

Receiving Line.
Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Candler and Mr. Dupre were D. W. Kennedy, of New York, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Candler, Miss Katharine Candler, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Candler, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Candler, Mr. and Mrs. William Candler.

Buffet Supper.
Following the recital supper was served buffet style in the dining room. The beautifully appointed table was covered with an imported cloth of hand-made lace. A low silver basket filled with lavender and pink sweet peas, pink and blue hyacinths and lavender orchids formed the centerpiece. Surrounding the central decoration were silver candelsticks holding lavender tapers which were tied with fluffy bows of airy pink tulle. The bonbons and ices were also in pink and lavender.

Mrs. Candler received her guests wearing a gown of black chiffon, elaborately beaded in crystals and rhinestones. Miss Katherine Candler, the lovely daughter of the host and hostess, was a charming figure in a costume of white satin built on simple lines and graced with silver ribbon. One hundred and fifty guests were invited to meet Mr. Dupre. The list included the prominent members of Atlanta's musical circle.

HEARTS AFIRE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

Pick up the preceding synopsis and add:—Next day Peter goes to New York on business reads of Prudence's accident in the papers and dashes off to the hospital where she has been taken.

Installment 51—Her Steady. When Prudence—jogging in the ambulance to the Flower hospital caught sight of her own reflection in a looking-glass that hung on the wall, she gave a cry of terror.

"That isn't me! That isn't me!" A coal black face—the eyes showing with a strange white gleam in the surrounding darkness—gazed menacingly at her. And—merciful heavens! the creature in the mirror had no hair!

She sank back on the pillow, trembling, while the nurse bent over her and tried to soothe her.

"Don't be alarmed, dear. People always look that way when they've been in a fire. The smoke and dirt, you know. We'll wash it off when we get to the hospital and you'll be your old self again."

"But my hair?" Prudence put a hand up to what had been her "crowning glory." It was gone.

"No time to mind, dear. I'll go in no time," said the kindly nurse. "The flames must have got it."

Prudence's lips trembled at the recollection of her terrible escape—the dizzy descent of the 85-foot ladder.

"Was the fireman hurt?" she whispered. "I—I don't mind about my hair if he's safe."

"He's all right. Lie still and rest." "Afterwards—in the hospital another nurse looked after her.

Prudence didn't want her people to be told about the fire. The excitement of the news might kill her mother.

"As like or not, it'll be in the papers, dear. We'd better telegraph."

Prudence gave in. She was too weak to argue, and a tremendous longing overcame her to see her mother. Her loved face, to have her reassuring voice close to her.

She had acted wrongly in running off. A coward's part! The fire had been her punishment.

But on that terrible accusation at Winston Towers! She couldn't return to her home until she was cleared in the eyes of the law.

Everyone! That included Peter Armstrong! Strange how she no longer cared what Bert Traymore thought of her.

But oh! she longed for Peter's good news!

"Two years ago," says Mrs. Thompson, "while I was visiting relatives in Russell County, Virginia. . . I read about Black-Draught. It seemed to be very remarkable medicine, so I thought I would try it. When I got home, my daughter got a box of this medicine at the store and we began to use it in our family."

"Black-Draught is a good reliable medicine. It is a household remedy with us for . . . trouble, which is caused by the wrong lime-stone water we have to drink in this country."

"Occasionally I suffer from headaches caused from constipation and biliousness and for it I have invariably used Black-Draught for the past two years. My health has always been good."

Black-Draught is used, with satisfaction, by millions. Try it.

G. H. S. Parents Permanent Student Aid Fund Will Attend Finance Committee Meeting

All parents of the Girls' High school are urged to attend the next meeting of the finance committee of the city council. The committee will meet one day this week which will be announced later. The fathers are especially urged to attend and insist upon the committee closing contract for the building of new Girls' High school by March 1.

Resolutions were introduced to the city council Monday afternoon by the parent-teacher council and from the board of education, petitioning council to provide $304,000 additional funds against which to make Girls' High school contracts. The parent-teacher resolution asserts that council promised to see the building completed by September and asks council to forego other public improvements if necessary to do it. Signing the resolution were Mrs. Frank H. Neely, Mr. E. D. McDonald, Mrs. John T. Thompson, Mrs. Victor Krieshaber, Mrs. G. M. Howson, Mrs. J. P. Wall and D. M. Therrill.

The board of education resolution cleared the dangerous condition of the present girls' school building and the inability of the school board to produce the money to meet Mayor Walter A. Sims' condition that he will not sign any contract for which no money is available.

Council referred to the finance committee the above resolutions which will be taken up at the next meeting of the committee.

Rally Day. Friday, February 22, will be Rally day at Girls' High. The mayor and council and all notables and friends and parents are invited to come and see the inside workings of the school; the classes in operation; from English, Latin and the higher branches of learning to the equally important cooking and sewing classes. The ideals of student government, the bank and school paper, The Mallonian, will be described by the girl chiefs and teachers, and all other numerous activities that go to make up the thorough and well-balanced course.

It may not be amiss for the visitors to look around and see the high dark ceilings, the high shining floors, the holes in the steps caused by thousands upon thousands of feet wearing off the treads; the dangerous ingress and egress, the terrible landing system, the lack of ordinary school conveniences. All this the visitor and the powers-that-be overlook because of the incomparable spirit of the school, the mastery teaching and the superb housekeeping? Because of these great attributes is it not all the more fitting that the physical properties of the school at this approach to the intangible assets? Too long has the feeling existed that since the girls learn so beautifully what else is necessary?

Come on Rally day, see and feel for yourself.

Women Voters Hear Prominent Speakers At Luncheon Tuesday

Two speakers of prominence gave added enjoyment to the luncheon held Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock at the Peacock Cafe, under the auspices of the League of Women Voters, when Mrs. Clifford Walker and Superintendent Sutton were honor guests. Mrs. Walker, who was recently named national chairman of the pre-school age work in this country, gave a wonderful explanation of the work.

Mrs. Walker was introduced by Mrs. Sanford Gay, president of the league, who presided at the luncheon. She began her talk by asking and answering a series of questions which gave clearly the connection of the pre-school age work with the League of Women Voters' work.

"What is the chief aim of the League of Women Voters? Working toward intelligent citizenship. Why intelligent citizenship? For the betterment of the home life. Why make the home perfect? Because the home makes the nation, and no nation can live with its foundation weak. The extension of good home influence is needed over the world," said Mrs. Walker. "The P. T. A.," she continued, "is an extension of home influence into the schools. The Women's club is an extension of the home into the community. The League of Women Voters is an extension of the home into civic and political life."

Professor Sutton spoke on the school work and the school needs, giving great stress to the fact that the school needs pre-school work. He explained the system of medical examination in the schools. "It is a great thing," he said, "that we have so many nurses. We have only three doctors for 24,000 children."

Mrs. Sutton gave in detail the work of the dental clinics, the baby clinics, the health crusades put on at the schools by outside organizations. He stressed the need for physical attention and medical work in the schools.

"In one school," he said, "we asked the teacher from each class to pick out the worst student from moral, physical, mental and social standpoints. Then we took these 18 stu-

HUSBAND SAID WHY NOT TRY IT

Wife Said She Would. Result, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

East Hardwick, Vermont.—"Last winter I was not able to do any work at all. I had backache, headache, sideache, and was sick all the time for six months. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and my husband said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' So I said I would, and it has done me more good than I can ever tell, and my friends say, 'What have you done to yourself? You look so well.' I tell them it is the Vegetable Compound that makes me so well and strong. There is no use to suffer with backache and pains. I will tell every one what it has done for me."—Mrs. FRED. Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calomel powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has dissolved and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.—(adv.)

Persons who were so defective, gave them good medical and dental attention, saw to it that their homes were visited, and that everything was remedied in the way of bodily needs. At the end of the year every single one of these children who had heretofore failed in every subject, passed everything, with the exception of one child who failed in one subject. Their little bodies needed renovation before their minds could function or their souls develop."

Washington, February 19.—On recommendation of Leigh C. Palmer, president of the Emergency Fleet corporation, the shipping board today approved an aggregate reduction of $18,000 in the salaries of the four vice presidents of the fleet corporation. Seven thousand dollars was cut from the pay of each of the two receiving $25,000, and $2,000 from each of the two receiving $20,000.

The Great Moment

BY ELINOR GLYN

Nadine had, however, thought out all this, and waited up in the gallery arrayed in her elderly bundle of black velvet and jet and monkey fur, with the side split up to her knee, and a long train flowing behind her, her hair dressed as a Spaniard and a high comb in it. She had an uncomfortable feeling that she looked ridiculous, but an obstinate temper was in her. She would not let anyone intimidate her. Mr. Hopper was sure to admire her, and say "You get-up is stunning, peachy." "Peachy" would be his word for "peachy"—when they were married? Here was the third man she was having to wonder about "when they were married!" She remembered how her timid thoughts used to speculate as to life in Rome with Eustace (was all that a hundred years ago?) and then there were yet other speculations on that one brief morning when she had been married to Bayard. Here she drew in her breath sharply, a pain came round her heart. She must not think of that or him—what would he have called her? She did not remember his using any form of action, when they had looked at the sunset before the terrible snake came—the snake which had really been the cause of their wedding and their parting. No, Bayard had just said, "Nadine, I love you," and as her thoughts reached this stage, a passionate thrill of remembrance quivered through her. But he had meant it then, surely? But down in the big square hall she could hear a new arrival just entering. Yes, it was Mr. Hopper—Howard!—and she must stop before he should be announced into the small drawing room there beyond the archway. She went down the top part of the stairs quickly, and then walked slowly when she came into view. Mr. Hopper stopped, planned his feet wide apart, and nodded his head. "Aren't you just what I want?" he said. "You are perfect." And as ever the flattery comforted the half-primitive spirit of the girl—and she met him at the foot of the stairs with radiant smiling.

"Say—where am I going to hear the good news? In here?" he pointed to a sort of winter garden of palms and foliage which opened out beyond the staircase to the right. Nadine belonged to hustle him into the drawing room to the others. Now that it had come to the point she was terrified, and the Polonaise party, her cousins, and she controlled herself and determined to face the inevitable.

"Yes," she answered, and led the way. Perhaps if she did not go too far among the palms and he thought servants might be coming by, he would not attempt to kiss her. This was her only coherent thought. But nothing could daunt Mr. Hopper.

"I'm just crazy about you, peachy," he whispered hoarsely, and clasped her in his arms. "And you're going to be Mrs. Howard B. Hopper. I'm proud!" There was no use struggling—but oh! he must not—must not touch her lips! So Nadine buried her face in his coat, and let him only chuck and an ear to choose from. He literally devoured both, and a shivering, almost disgust filled the poor child. "I'm wild—I'm wild about you," Mr. Hopper murmured. "It had not struck him to ask her if she loved him. He was entirely occupied by his own gratification. He had secured what he wanted—which was her consent, and no other aspect of the case existed for him. "Now I want that cherry of a mouth," he demanded. But Nadine broke away from him—her whirling returning to defend herself. "No, no! not yet—you must give me time to think," she said, and she looked at him anxiously. "Let me go into the drawing room now, and tell the Crombies and my father."

"Not before my little ring is on your hand," she said proudly, "and every one will know you're mine."

Nadine nearly went into one of her fits of laughter, she was almost hysterical, but she let her new fiancée take her little left hand—he made no mistake—like Eustace, but slipped the blatant token upon the third finger, and then bent and kissed it.

"What a beautiful ring," Nadine exclaimed. It seemed the only thing to say.

"It's the best that money can buy; but only the number ones can ever be for you."

"It is divine," and she examined that marvelous stone with real admiration. "Thank you very much, and now I want you to meet papa," and taking his arm Nadine led Mr. Howard B. Hopper towards the archway which opened into this smaller drawing room.

Sir Edward and Lord Crombie were standing with their backs to the fireplace, some lady guests were seated near Lady Crombie, who was pouring out the tea, and a young man or two from the embassies conversed with some girls—not of the set of Nadine's friends.

Every one looked up as the pair entered, and with complete assurance Mr. Hopper came over to the two elderly gentlemen after he had cordially greeted the chatty hostess.

"Say, I'm glad to meet you," he announced to his future father-in-law, whom he slapped in a friendly way on the back; "come, you've got no objection to giving me Nadine?"

Sir Edward's glance would have covered almost anything else in the world, but it had not the real thing, and knew how to be up stage.

"Mr. Hopper and I are engaged," papa, Nadine said, stroking the huge diamond, while her eyes filled with a malicious smile. "Do congratulate us."

Sir Edward bowed.

"My daughter is free to do as she pleases," he said icily. "I am sailing for England in two weeks. My best wishes to you both," then he turned to a lady near and took no further notice of either of them.

This rather damped Nadine's triumph. She would liked to have seen him angry and disturbed.

Every one else now congratulated them, and Lord Crombie fixed his eyes in his eye.

But the only thing which was concerning Nadine was how she could manoeuvre not to be alone with her fiancee before he left. A bitter little laugh came to her lips when she remembered how she never wanted to be left with Eustace either. It was a grimly humorous reality. Must finances always be—physically distasteful? It seemed so.

She would put on airs, and show caprice—all the girls with whom she spent her time ruled all the men, and never considered anyone but themselves, so she would do likewise. To be coquettishly dictatorial to Mr. Hopper would be her line of action, until she had coached herself to stand his carresses.

Howard B. Hopper was radiant. He had no misgivings.

Once the affair was an accomplished fact, Lady Crombie became coldly gracious. She felt that probably Nadine would be grateful to her if she could arrange that she should have an evening away from the giddy crew, so she said when Mr. Hopper sprawled familiarly beside her on the sofa:

"I hope you will allow us to keep Nadine at home this evening because I want her to go to bed early. I am afraid the wedding she had last night, when the doctor was present, has quite knocked her up, and she should have a long rest."

"Why, certainly," agreed the millionaire; he was thinking that he had better go and see Polly to be sure that she was planning no coup. "Why, certainly. Give her all the care that a gentleman and all right, how fortunate it would have been, because such a nature as Nadine's can only be influenced by love."

"How could we communicate with him?" Lady Crombie asked eagerly, her woman's heart touched by the thought of romance. "If he knew what she is thinking of doing he might—"

"It was a gentleman—and all right, Viola," Sir Edward's voice was quite low. "The affair was one un- lucky misunderstanding which I have only lately understood—and you really think she cares for the fellow still?" he went on and there was a

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT? I GIVE MY WIFE A HANDSOME MONTHLY ALLOWANCE TO RUN THE HOUSE ON AND SHE EXPECTS ME TO PAY THE BILLS FOR RENT, GAS, ELECTRICITY, ICE, MEAT AND GROCERIES, HER DRESSMAKER AND MILLINER BILLS—ALL SHE'S PAYING FOR IS POSTAL CARDS—

SHE TOLD ME IF I GAVE HER A MONTHLY ALLOWANCE SHE WOULD SAVE MONEY—SHE'S SAVING IT ALL RIGHT—WITH HER KNOWLEDGE OF HIGH FINANCE SHE'D MAKE WALL STREET LOOK LIKE POVERTY ROW IN TWO WEEKS—

JUST BECAUSE I HAPPEN TO BE A COUPLE OF JUMPS AHEAD OF THE POOR HOUSE IS NO REASON SHE SHOULD TRY TO PULL THAT KIND OF STUFF ON ME—I DON'T MIND THE MONEY—IT'S THE PRINCIPLE OF THE THING—

WELL, I THINK I'LL GIVE MYSELF AN ALLOWANCE THIS MONTH—IN THE PAST I'VE REFORMED—IN THE FUTURE I'LL SPARE NO EXPENSE TO MAKE MYSELF AS HAPPY AS A FLY IN A CANDY FACTORY—gone, three disturbed people faced each other.

"What on earth is to be done?" Sir Edward said.

"It is a pretty kettle of fish, Ned," and Lord Crombie looked at his old friend sympathetically, while Lady Crombie clasped her delicate hands.

"It is not all the poor child's fault, I am convinced that she still cares for that young man out at the mine—and all this is just bravado," she exclaimed. "Ah! If only he had been a gentleman and all right, how fortunate it would have been, because such a nature as Nadine's can only be influenced by love."

"How could we communicate with him?" Lady Crombie asked eagerly, her woman's heart touched by the thought of romance. "If he knew what she is thinking of doing he might—" shade of hope in the tone.

"I am sure of it. She admitted to me this morning that this excitement, while it did not bring happiness, helped her to forget."

"I should prefer that she married one of her own nation. Still, De- laval was just the sort of character who would know how to deal with her and I believe he really loved her too," and Sir Edward sighed.

And so the three went up to dress for dinner—each feeling not very hopeful of results.

And Nadine up in her sitting-room had ordered a wood fire to be lit in the open grate—she felt so cold and strange—and there she stood looking into the crackling flames, obstinate, stubborn misery lying deep in her blue eyes.

And in a room in the house where she lived with her ultra-respectable mother—or was it aunt?—Polly was "throwing fits" with real art, and terrifying the newly made fiancé into promising her a trip to New York, and a new chinchilla coat.

CHAPTER XXIX.

Some rather belated papers came out to Rockers Point about this time, and Bayard Delaval picked one up as he was eating an early dinner in a hotel. His work had been very difficult and required all his intelligence—and all his wits. He had literally not had one moment to think, but underneath there was a new hope in his spirit, when he should be free he would go East and never stop until he had found his darling little girl, and told her everything which was in his heart, and then if she could forgive him. . . . Ah! That was too good to dwell upon—yet.

He was feeling particularly bright as he ate the simple food.

His eyes glanced idly over the printed words, there never was any thing very interesting to be found. Suddenly a headline copied from a Washington journal struck his view—

"Daughter of English Baronet plunges into lake at Poppa Hopper's orgy," and he bent forward with sudden passionate interest and apprehension to read the rest.

His face paled a little as he finished the last line. What could have happened to his refined delicate little love? Of course papers always exaggerated everything—and he cursed this wretched taste—but still the insinuation was that the whole party had been a lawless affair, and that the guests were no quite themselves. Nadine to be among such people, and to have plunged into a lake! And who was this Hopper?—and what did it all mean?

Then he got up in rage. And here was he tied to the mine, and he should be there protecting and looking after her! What could her own people be about to let her mix with such a crew? But what chance must have occurred in her. Indeed, indeed she was in need of "a master and acts of love!" He had several times noticed the wild streak in her. What if she had been so wounded to the quick by his Bayard's conduct, that she had grown reckless? Oh! he could not bear it, he must go east at once.

LOCAL PREPS OFF FOR STATE AND SOUTHERN MEETS

G. I. A. A. to Get Underway At Griffin Today; Tech Hi And Lanier in First Game

Griffin, Ga., February 19.—(Special.)—The outlook is not very bright with reference to the weather on the eve of the G. I. A. A. prep basketball tourney. A drizzling rain fell here practically all day and the night is cold, damp and exceedingly raw.

The sentiment here is that the weather condition will not materially affect the interest and enthusiasm that is being manifested. The stage is all set. Colors of the various schools in the most adobe the Griffin athletic court and the local merchants are following suit with signs of welcome extended to greet the teams of the association and their camp followers.

It was unofficially reported here Tuesday night that Monroe A. & M. would not enter. In case they fail to report a game will be played between the girls' teams of Griffin and Concord at the time and place of the scheduled game and G. M. C. will have a bye.

Players and coaches are expected to begin arriving on the noon train Wednesday. They will be quartered at the Hotel Griffin.

The cup to be awarded the championship team is on display at Wayne's jewelry store. It is 9 by 11 1/2 inches and is made of sterling silver. It is said to be valued at $200.

Held Workout.
The local team held its final workout this afternoon in preparation for the meet. Their first game will be with Boys' High, Thursday afternoon. Two of Coach Talbot's men are on the injured list at present, but it is expected that they will round into form in time for game. Baird, varsity guard, is out with a sprained ankle. He will hardly be able to play Thursday, but should Griffin survive the Boys' High struggle, he will more than likely be injected into the struggle.

The stores and places of business in Griffin will close at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in order to allow all the employers and employees to attend the initial contest. It is the consensus of opinion here that the teaming the first game, Lanier Tech High, will make a strong bid for championship honors. They are both rated among the strongest teams in the meet, but the equal rebounding home with the Griffin cup will go through a strenuous series of basketball.

TECH HIGH MEETS LANIER TONIGHT

Today, and the rest of the week, is the time for basketball heroes to assert themselves, for this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock the G. I. A. A. championship tournament gets under way at Griffin to decide state honors, and Thursday afternoon the Cotton States tournament opens up in Auburn to decide upon a southern champion.

About a week or two days later Atlanta teams will draw in against one another in the city tournament to decide local honors, but this week local teams are invading foreign territory for titles greater than those to be gained at home.

At present Atlanta has a just right to be proud and satisfied with its various quintets, for both the state and the southern titles are held by teams who claim Atlanta as their home. Boys' High is state champion, and G. M. A. is the southern champion, and local fans confidently expect either these teams or others of local origin to keep the coveted titles right here in Atlanta.

Atlanta sends four teams to Griffin today to put in bids for state honors: Boys' High, Tech High, University and Commercial. The remaining teams entered in the tourney are Lanier, Monroe, G. M. C., Riverside, Gordon and Griffin. Play in the state tourney starts tonight when Tech High, Atlanta's best bet, and Lanier, perhaps the other strongest team, clash. Games will be played Thursday night, Friday afternoon and Friday night, and terminate in the finals Saturday night.

A great time is expected, for Griffin has promised one, and some real basketball games are going to be played. The colors of all the entrants are on display in merchants' windows, the winner to get a silver cup, everybody gets a reception Thursday evening, and the Elks are giving a dance Friday evening. In other words, the fan is to be entertained royally by the citizens of Griffin. Better not miss it.

Fulton Quintet Defeats Marist

Fulton defeated Marist Tuesday afternoon on the Wesley Memorial court by a 33-33 score in what was unquestionably the closest and most fought battle of the season. The quintets were leading 19-8 at the end of the first half and had things their way in the first period. Coach Henderson applied the well known shot of T. N. T. during the intermission, however, and the county five came back and played the game of their lives. It was anybody's game right up until the final minute of play, and no better basketball has been seen on the Wesley court this year.

The Lineup.
FULTON (23) Pos. MARIST (28)
Rogers (15) Player (13)
Allen (13) F. (13)
Boyle (11) C. Williams (13)
Stanley J. G. Van Brocklin

Substitutions for Fulton: Heyman for Rogers, Rogers for Heyman; Baisden for Stanley; Stanley for Baisden. For Marist, Carrigan (7) for Player; Devitt (1) for Taylor. Referee, Whitney, Tech.

Rickard-Kearns Conference Fails

New York, February 19.—Negotiations for the prospective return heavyweight title match between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons hung fire today when a scheduled conference between Jack Kearns, the title holder's mentor, and Tex Rickard, who plans to stage a fight here the first week in June, failed to materialize. Rickard and the promoter expect to get together, however, before the end of the week to discuss final terms. Gibbons already has agreed to the match.

Meanwhile, according to Billy McCarney, Firpo's American business representative, the New York syndicate which is negotiating for a match between Firpo and Harry Wills in July expects to arrange this week a deposit of $50,000, transferable to a Buenos Aires bank, to bind a tentative agreement with the South American. Firpo has stipulated that this part of the $250,000 guarantee offered him must be deposited before the end of the week if negotiations are to continue.

A PIECE FOR THE PAPER

BY PAUL WARWICK

Bill Costello, his iron-gray locks a-flowing, dropped into the office Tuesday afternoon, to reminisce a bit—of the day when he fought Steve O'Donnell in Atlanta, as a preliminary to an exhibition in which Gentleman Jim Corbett appeared, and of a later day when he faced Bob Fitzsimmons.

This was in the day when the front pages of the papers were filled with the frantic efforts for a place to hold the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, when Dallas, Texas, Hot Springs, Arkansas and other places were striving to stage the fray.

Bill Costello was fighting at about 160 pounds in those days, but a lot of water has gone over the dam and now old Bill's a gypsy, a gypsy heart and soul. He spoke admiringly of Young Stribling, but tinged his remarks with regret: "I could have given that lad a healthy fight, me, in my palmy days."

He's on his way to New Orleans, for the romance and color of Mardi Gras—then he's coming back to Atlanta, where a host of those clannish nomad tribes will gather to bury their dead with the impressive honors they annually bestow on those who have passed away.

Spurred by Bill's recollections, which included twenty years at sea and numerous horse-trading memories, the old files of The Constitution interested us for a while. Especially after we had run across the accounts of games between the Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland, playing in 1895 for the Temple cup.

Accounts, for instance, that prove that Dumb Dora is not a modern girl and that dumb bells existed before you and I were born—albeit there's nothing personal in that remark. Could present-day baseball writers commit anything more modern than, "Singles by McAleer and Tebeau and two dumb exhibitions by Gleason and Carey gave the Cleveland two more runs." The kid must have had an off day.

Then this—that radiates some baseball history: "The champions added another tally to their score in the ninth and at one time had a chance of winning the game. With two out McGraw and Keeler drew bases on balls and Jennings was hit by the pitcher. The crowd meantime was encouraging the Baltimore players and trying to rattle the others. With the bases full and with a chance to win the Temple cup, the fans begged and besought Brodie to push out a triple, or a home run, but he failed miserably."

Some more rummaging through these old files, now musty and yellowed with age, developed this pungent bit, about one we know exceedingly well:

"What a wonderfully clever little player is TICHENOR! He is worth his weight in gold. When Georgia secured the ball Nally was sent twice at the line, but each time failed to gain and the ball went to Auburn on an off-side play. The ball is snapped back by Auburn's center and passed back by Tichenor. A fumble followed and TICHENOR secured the ball. He was off like a flash, dodging first one Georgian and then another until he seemed to have a clear field. Then Kent appeared and the two went together and rolled over and over, TICHENOR getting twenty yards," etc. Tick this and Tick that, until Auburn whupped Georgia in that Thanksgiving game.

J. P. C. QUINTET TRIUMPHS OVER GEORGIA TECH FIVE

BY ROY WHITE.

Playing by far the greatest game of the season Coach Bean's Jewish Progressive club basketball team sent the Georgia Tech five back to the North avenue institution last night with another defeat. The final score was recorded Jewish Progressive club 41, Georgia Tech 33.

It was a great game and the winners staged a wonderful rally in the closing moments of play after the Tech quint had threatened to snatch the game away from the leaders.

The J. P. C. quint took the lead early after the game had started and held a small margin all the way through. When the first half of the game ended the J. P. C. five was on the long end of a 12 to 12 score. Early in the second half it was obvious that the Tech team had taken on renewed strength during the intermission and immediately began to out the 10 point lead down to when only five minutes were left to play. Tech was within two points of even ing up the score, only to lose because of a great J. P. C. rally.

With the score 34 to 32 in their favor Coach Bean's men began to pass with more accuracy than ever before. Every J. P. C. man was putting everything he had into the play.

Tech played an offensive game for the most part in the first half, but in the second half Coach Alexander's men played a man for man game and it looked for a time as if that brand of call was going to win. Tech failed to take advantage of many easy shots in the second half and after the J. P. C. rally began, the white-jerseyed lads seemed at a loss.

The scoring honors of the game were divided between Captain Roane of Tech and Spielberger of the J. P. C. quint. Both registered 7 field goals and two fouls apiece and the majority of the goals were made from long range. Finkelstein was second with 5 field goals and one foul to his credit.

The Line-Up.
TECH (33) Pos. J. P. C. (41)

NEW PLAYER BOUGHT BY LOCALS

That Ollie Kreymer, of Charlotte, and Harry Stupp, of Galveston, will have plenty of opposition from another source when they start battling for the privilege of filling Eddie Moore's position at shortstop was evidenced in a statement made by President Jack Corbett yesterday.

Corbett stated that he had completed a deal which will give the Crackers a youngster just as fast as Moore and one that is perfectly capable of filling the gap made by his sale to Pittsburgh. But the Cracker head refused to divulge the youngster's name.

"You can say for me that he is one of the sweetest little shortfielders in the business today and will more than please the fans. He has had one year in Class AA baseball which was during the 1922 season. Last year he was out of organized ball, playing in the Boston Twilight league. I will announce his name when the parties I am dealing with are ready."

Corbett purchased the player in question outright and there is no doubt of his reporting when the Cracker squad shows up for training. The purchase price was not announced but it is certain that the Crackers paid over the $5,000 mark for this mysterious youth.

Make Decision Soon.
In regard to the reported move of the Crackers establishing training quarters in Jacksonville, Fla., or some close by Georgia town because of the slow work on the new stands at Spiller's field, Corbett stated that he would make his decision some time next week.

"Jacksonville and other points have made good offers for the Crackers to train there and transfer their list of exhibition games and I will make the move if I see that the park is not to be completed in time. If we make the change we may go to some nearby town where the club can jump back here whenever the stands are completed and the remainder of the exhibition schedule will be played here, said Mr. Corbett.

The Crackers have the greatest list of exhibition games ever arranged for the benefit of the local fans and everyone hopes that the work on the stands can be pushed to completion so that the park may be used.

G. M. A. Cadets Will Defend Title At Cotton States Tournament Thursday

Auburn, Ala., February 19.—(Special.)—With all entries properly filed in the athletic association offices, all is in readiness for the whistle that will start the Cotton States basketball tournament Thursday morning according to announcement of Coach Wilbur Hartsell who heads the promoting end of the big prep athletic classic.

When the entries closed records show sixteen teams slated for the coming floor event, Georgia and Tennessee, each, are contributing a pair of husky aggregations to participate for premier honors in the oncoming meet.

The list of entries on the entry sheets include, Georgia Military academy, College Park; Berry school, of Rome; Chattanooga High, of Chattanooga; Montgomery-Bell academy, of Nashville; Simpson High, Birmingham; Lee County High, of Auburn; Milledgeville High, of Milledgeville; Alliance High, of Alliance; Leeds High, of Leeds; Sidney Lanier, of Montgomery; Chambers County High, of Milledgeville; Macon County High, of Nottulsa; Waverly High, of Waverly; Tuskegee High, of Tuskegee; Tallahassee High, of Tallahassee and Tallapoosa County High, of Indeville.

With the entry list at hand it is hard to pick prospective winners, or even runners-up. A number of the competitors have a record for the season that will baffle any doer to try to spot the strongest teams. Sidney Lanier and Lee County High were the finalists in the recent central Alabama elimination tourney held in Montgomery. Both of these teams are ready for the song Thursday. Simpson High, of Birmingham and Leeds High played off the finals in the north central Alabama district at Birmingham last week-end. Simpson won first place but both teams will again enter for the same honors. G. M. A. was champion of the Cotton States tourney last season and with an enviable record again this season will be a reputable contender again.

Berry School from Rome will bring a fine quintet to the Plains this season. Berry has lost only one game this season which was to Jacksonville State Normal, a close score and they had previously defeated the State Normal by a close score and (feared) Cedartown High school by the one-sided score of 110 to 12. Chattanooga High and Montgomery-Bell, of Nashville, will come to Auburn as the initial representatives of the Volunteer state, well heeled for the grind to championship honors in the week-end hostilities.

The others on the entry lists look strong on the ledger and all have made a good record in the season now underway. The meet this year with the outstanding entries promises to eclipse other meets of the Cotton States tournament. Pairings will be made up Thursday morning and all teams backed up with their opposition.

$75 DROP IN COTTON COMES UNDER PROBE

Washington, February 19.—Causes which have contributed to the break of $75 a bale in cotton during the past two months will be discussed at a conference tomorrow between senators from the cotton producing states and Director Stewart and Statistician Zimmerman of the census bureau.

Decision to inquire exhaustively into this subject was reached at a conference late today of the senators from the cotton states. The meeting was called by Senator Smith, of South Carolina, who presided, and the senators examined into many of the factors.

"I don't think those bales ever existed," Senator Smith said, "their inclusion in the report undoubtedly helped to break the price of cotton. In explanation it is claimed that a part of this $75.405 bales is so-called 'city crop'—that is, samples taken from bales and then repacked."

Shoemaker-Poet Plunges to Death From Hotel Room

New York, February 19.—John S. Rusk, Sr., maker of shoes for presidents of the United States and for Wall street financiers, was killed today when he fell from the fourth floor of a Greenwich Park hotel.

Police reported it suicide. The son of the aged shoemaker declared, however, that his father was overcome by dizziness.

Some folks called Rusk "the cobbler of Wall street" others knew him as "The Shoemaker Poet," or "The Singing Philosopher." In his little shop tucked away in a skyscraper in the heart of the financial section, he had made shoes for the late President McKinley and Roosevelt. Scores of the biggest men in Wall street were his patrons.

Like President Coolidge's cobbler, Rusk was more than a shoemaker to his patrons. President McKinley revealed in his vast store of homely philosophy and political lore, as did President Roosevelt, and the scores of noted statesmen and financiers whose feet he measured and shod. They came for shoes and stayed to chat.

When his little ground floor shop was razed to make place for a skyscraper a few years ago, Rusk retired. But his patrons wouldn't have it. They missed him and his wisdom, and seeking him out in his Brooklyn home, induced him to install his crude paraphernalia in the new building. There he sat and poured and sewed and fit until last night.

He visited an old crony in Manhattan during the evening, and had gone to the hotel for the night, when he missed him and his wisdom, and seeking him out in his Brooklyn home, induced him to install his crude paraphernalia in the new building. There he sat and poured and sewed and fit until last night.

Bandit Gets $200 In Bold Hold-Up Of Store Manager

An armed negro bandit robbed E. K. Carson, Rogers' chain store superintendent, of $200 in cash at the 64 Hunt street branch Tuesday night and escaped in an automobile, Carson told police.

R. H. Cook, branch manager, had just stepped out of the store and Carson was transferring contents of the till into a cash bag when the bandit entered, Carson said.

"Lif' yo' han's an' hol' yo' mouf," Carson quoted the bandit as commanding.

The superintendent complied. The bandit seized the cash, dashed out of the store to the corner of Linden and Merritt streets, where he jumped into an automobile and drove away.

Plainclothes Officers S. M. Roper and E. J. Hunt were investigating the robbery early Wednesday morning.

CHANGES ARE PLANNED IN DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES

Washington, February 19.—Important changes in high diplomatic posts are under contemplation by the Washington government as a result of the resignation of Richard Washburn Child as ambassador at Rome, and the transfer of Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher from Brussels to the Italian capital.

One report given credence in some official quarters here involves the transfer of William Phillips, under secretary of state, to Brussels to succeed Mr. Fletcher and the return to Washington of Joseph C. Grew, minister to Switzerland. Mr. Grew is given much credit for the part he played in the negotiation of the Lausanne treaty during the Geneva conferences.

It is also regarded as possible that Hugh Gibson, minister to Poland, may be transferred from Warsaw to Bern. Mr. Gibson left Washington yesterday to sail Saturday from New York en route to Warsaw. He has been mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Phillips in the state department, but his departure at this time appears to make that possibility remote.
